

Software Product Manager

Our team in Split is fully occupied with enhancing our existing platform www.getbybus.com, so we need new team members to help us with developing some new, cool products. As a product manager you will be the main person responsible for one or more new software products complementary to GBB platform.

Main responsibilities:

- Lead the development of new products.
- Market research (competition, potential cooperation partners)
- Specify product requirements; technical as well as the commercial ones.
- Make development plan and agree on details with the dev team lead.

Desired qualifications:

- Established experience with Software product development
- Good track record of meeting targets and maintaining publishing schedules
- Experience with agile / scrum environment would be an advantage.
- Business acumen with a proactive problem-solving attitude
- Fluent in English
- Excellent communication and persuasion skills

About the company

Sol itum d.o.o is an IT company based in Split, Croatia. Our team develops and manages Getbybus.com, which is the leading platform for bus travel in the Balkan area and one of the main platforms in Europe. The platform currently offers bus routes in more than 40 countries, with millions of daily connections from more than 7000 cities available on Getbybus.com.